PHASES OF IRISH CRIME.

PRISONERS CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY. M'DERMOTT ARRESTED ON THE CITY OF MONTREAL -DYNAMITE CONSPIRATORS.

McDermott was arrested at Liverpool on Monday on the steamer City of Montreal, charged with conspiracy to murder officials. He had been seen at Cork in company with O'Herlihy, one of the dynamite conspirators, and a warrant for his arrest was then issued. The prisoner said he was an American, and correspondence with O'Donovan Rossa and James Stephens was found upon him. It is thought that he is a well-known ward politician in Brooklyn, who has been missing for some time. Five of the dynamite conspirators were placed on trial in Liverpool yesterday.

ARREST OF JAMES MCDERMOTT. THE PRISONER SEEN WITH O'HERLIHY IN CORK-CORRESPONDENCE FOUND.

LONDON, Aug. 7 .- A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Liverpool says that James McDermott was arrested there yesterday on his arrival from America and was remanded to jail on a charge of being engaged in a conspiracy to murder public officials. The arrest was made on board the steamer City of Montreal, on which he had come from America. A warrant for his arrest was issued in Cork, where he had been seen in company with O'Herlity. Some correspondence from O'Don-ovan Rossa and James Stephens was found upon the prisoner, who said he was an American citizen, and would call upon the American Government to

SUPPOSED TO BE A BROOKLYN MAN. RUMORS ABOUT HIS CONN CTIONS WITH IRISH AFFAIRS-SEEN LAST ON JULY 25.

Most of the Brooklyn politicians and others to whom the name of James McDermott has been well known as that borne by a journalist and ward politician, were inclined yesterday to consider the person arrested as identical with their former acquaintance McDermott has not been seen in his usual places of resort since July 25. The steamer City of Montreal sailed from New-York on July 26.

McDermott attained prominence several years ago as politician of the lower class in the Third Ward of Brooklyn. He was a journalist connected with a Brooklyn paper. He was afterward taken up by Albert Dagzett, who made him manager of the life insurance agency which Mr. Daggett had established in Brooklyn. McDermott also acted as chief licutenant in political matters. The two politicians had a disagreement more than a year ago and separated. McDermott went to Ireland last spring, and was said to have been in consultation with irish agitators. It was reported that be had to fice to Paris under an assumed name to escape arrest by the English authorities, and he returned to this country in a French steamer. A few weeks after his return he went to Canada and it was reported that this trip was also taken to as ast the Irish dynamite party. It was rumored on the other band that he was interested in finding the whereabouts of the defaulting ex-Secretary Stuart, of Bro. klyn.

Still other reports were to the effect that McDermott was an informer and had interested himself in Irish affairs only to betray his associates. To these hist reports was attributed a supposed attack on him about the middle of July in a liquor-store in Chatman-st. A builet entered the window and grazed his head. James Gaynor was arrested on a charge of firing the shot but was discharged by the police istrate. Between the time of the shooting an mote was constantly shadowed by persons interested in the Irish agitation. McDermott has always pro-fessed to be a warm admirer of O'Dono-van Rosse, and of his methods. In an interview published soon after his rourn from Europe McDermott, when asked whether he be-lieved in the use of radical means for "freeing Ireland," mind, the shooting of a British official, or a landlord, or the blowing up of Government property, is not, in my indigment, a bit too radical. It will be done and continue to be done, until the last rescal who holds a grip on the taroat of irriand is removed."

Henry McDermott, a brother of James McDermott, man arreaded was his brother. He said that he sid not know, but if it were so that fact would be the best proof of the faiseness of the reports, which he resented, that his brother had utrued informer. He had not seen his brother had utrued informer. He had not seen his brother had utrued informer. He had not seen his brother had the day of Gaynor's examination before the police magatrate. James McDermot had not slept every night at his brother's home, at No. 1,108 Pacific etc. Brooklyn, since his return from Europe, but he had no other regular place of abode. Since he has been missed from Brooklyn there have been reports that McDermott was to be found at Sneeghead Ear or at Patenegue, but these reports have been found to be untirue. At activarry's liquor-store in Montaguesat, knootlyn, and at his other places of react, he has been missed for about ten days.

It is considered probable that weDermott may be the nan referred to in a London dispatch published in The Trunnes of August 2, in which the Crown Solietor at Dubin is reported as anyling in answer to a request for a speedy trial of Poole, the prisoner necessed of the murder of Kenny, that "the enamed for the defence would not be in such a lutry for trial if he was a ware of the licentity of a winness expected from America."

TRIAL OF DYNAMITE CONSPIRATORS.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 7 .- The trial of O'Herliby, erstone, Deasy, Flannigan and Dalton, who are charged with having in their possession explo-sives for the destruction of buildings lives, was begun to-day. prisouers pleaded not guilty to arge. The Solicitor-General in stating the case to the court said he was confident that the evidence which would be offered against the prisoners would be onered as the part of ited Glasgow and purchased a quantity of the strongest nitric acid, which he sent to O'Herliny at Cork.

SEQUELS OF THE SPANISH REVOLT.

THE INSURGENTS TO BE INTERNED.

MADRID, Aug. 7.-General Blanco, commander of ces in Estremadura, will make a strict inury into the causes of the rising at Badajos. The is here severely biame the officials of Badajos for allowing the insurgents to surprise them. The surgents arrested the Prefect, the General coming the troops and four officers in their beds day morning. An editor of a Republican newspaper was one of the leaders of the insurgents. Lisson, Aug. 7 .- The authorities at Eivas have ed 900 meurgents and some civilian fugifified town on the coast. It is reported that the ect of the rising was to cover up a robbery of bite money, and that a deficiency of £9,600 has en discovered in the Badajos treasury.

THE LEADERS OF THE UPRISING.

MADRID, Aug. 7.—The Imparcial says that the ringleaders of the revolt were Colonel Gutlerrez, Major Marino, Lieutenant-Colonel Vega and Major ga. The former two enlisted thirty years ago, and owe their present rank to bravery in action. The latter two are also distinguished officers. No news has been received relative to their movements. Six million posetas in gold in the Bank of Spain at Badajos were left untouched by the in-surgents. Some refugees have telegraphed to a wapaper that the statement that the object of the tevelt was to conceal a deliciency emanated from the Government. They say they acted in obedience note the welfare of the country. The Portuguese suthernites have interued the refugees from Badajos in the fortified town of Peniche, on the western

LITTLE HARM DONE BY THE OUTBREAK LONDON, Aug. 7.—The Times's correspondent at Madrid says that the rising of the military ended. It is most undignified manner. Little harm was lone by the insurgents beyond slight damage to the raniway and the robbery of regimental and muniat was ever serious. It is stated in some quargramme of a gigantic stock jobbing operation conducted by a certain clique which has for a long time been making extraord inary efforts to destroy the improving credit of Spain.

A dispatch to The Daily Telegraph from Paris says that at a dinner in that city a fortnight ago Señor Ruiz Zorrilla, whose name was mentioned in the proclamation of the insurgents for President of the Republic, made a speech, in which he declared, in an excited manner, that he would not return to Spain until the Republic had been reinstated there.

CHOLERA AND FEARS OF CHOLERA

THE BRITISH NATIONAL DEBT BILL. LONDON, Aug. 7.—In the House of Commons to-night the National Debt bill passed its second reading by a vote of 149 to 95. The bill proposes to replace terminable annui ies expiring in 1885. The effect will be in twenty years to cancel £173.000,-000 of the national debt. Among the opponents of the bill are the Irish members. Some of the Conservatives urge that the gain by the expiration of the annuities be applied to a reduction of taxation. The supporters of the measure urge, among other things, that America and the colonies will here-atter become formidable rivals for commercial supremacy, and that it is desirable to reduce the debt while the operation may be easy.

FINANCIAL DISTRESS.

FAILURES IN BOSTON AND LYNN. A TREASURER SUSPENDS PAYMENT-WOOL DEALERS MAKE AN ASSIGNMENT.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 7 .- The Traveller says: "William B. Fowler, tressurer of the Auburndale Watch Company, failed last night. His habilities are now sup-posed to be small, although nothing definite has yet been learned." The failure will undoubtedly involve the Au burndale Watch Company, whose liabilities, it is thought,

Wright, Wooster & Co., wool dealers at 86 Federal-st. also failed to-day and made an assignment of all their property to Lester Goodwin, of Newton, one of the firm's imployes. The firm is one of the prominent wool houses of Boston, and has done a large business. The liabilities are thought to be large. The concern has had very good credit and has been considered worth from $100,000 to $150,000. The failure is the cause of no little surprise to the trade.

The Herald says there were reports in Lynn this morning of several failures on account of the suspension of Charl. S. W. Clements, among small manufacturers. Most of the shoes made by them were for Mr. Clements's trade. Samuel Gale was among those reported as embarrassed. None of the factories aff eted by Mr. Clements's fall employ over thirty or forty hands, andit is said their suspension will be only temporary. The Shaw failure is thought to be more far-reaching in its effect upon some of Lynn's business men than the public has yet been given to understand. The C. H. Ward statement is thought p-culfar, and places one of the city's financiers in a position which he was not thought to occupy. It is asserted that several suspensions will occur among the anall Lynn manufacturers during the ensuing few days, but it is thought that no large amounts will be involved in any case.

THE GREAT CRASH AT ST. ALBANS, VT. AN INVESTIGATION OF THE AFFAIRS OF THE VER MONT NATIONAL BANK IN PROGRESS.

ST. ALBANS, Vt., Aug. 7 .- The effect of to-day. The result of the investigation of the affairs of the Vermont National Bank by the examiner will not be known until to-night or to-morrow. President Brainard of the Trust Company says that the depositors will not ose much, but the latter are not so hopeful.

The St. Albans Trust Company's last statement the St. Albans Trust Company's last statement showed 2,100 depositors, with deposits of $600,000. Several railroad mea, including Governor Fairbanks, held a conference to-day at Barlow's residence. The statement that the Controller approved of the bank's loan to the Southeastern Railroad was incorrect. The Controller said it was too large and suggested its reduction. The First National Bank expected and prepared for a run this morning, but some took place.

The business failures at St. Albans, Vt., are not likely to result in losses in this city. The Vermont National Bank has been for many years a valued correstill has a small balance to its credit. It is not known and although Mr. Barlow has been its president for nearly a quarter of a century, the actual conduct of the bank's affairs has been for many years in the hands of the cashier, C. N. Bishop. There were rumors affecting the standing of certain canks in Boston in circulation yesterday, but it was said ports so far as they had been informed. ne bank which was named had over $500,000 to its credit at its the Canadian Pacific Railway, it was said yesterday that that company had taken from Mr. Barlow an option purchase of the Southeastern Raflway, which had not yet expired. The company paid him $1,250,000 and took the $1,750,000 first mortgage bonds of the Southeastern Railway which Mr. Barlow had in his possession. "It looks as if we had hought the bonds," a memb r of the firm remarked. "There certainly is no objustion on our part whom had not been fulfilled. Mr. Barlow wasted $2,500,000 in addition to what he paid for the bonds and we consisted the price rather dear. We concluded in fact not to take the road under the option at present for we were not absolutely certain that we should want if at all, it is probable that the road will be sold under forecleaure proceedings but we may not buy it. The Grand Truck Railway has talked about buying it at times and if it should be sold that company may be the purchaser."

A HUSBAND OF A WEEK.

F. C. BANGS'S BRIEF HONEYMOON. SUDDEN MARRIAGE AND A QUICK REPENTANCE-HIS COUNSEL'S STORY.

The theatrical world was startled and excited award the end of June over the news of the marriage of F. C. Bangs, the actor, to a woman reputed to be wealthy though no longer in the first blush of maiden-hood. Mr. Bangs had been supposed by his friends to be a confirmed bachelor, for he has passed forty-eight years of his life without falling a victim to the matrinonial designs of the fair admirers who for the lasmarter of a century have never been far distant from echer, is a woman of about thirty-five years, a daughter of Isaac M. Singer, the sewing machine manufac turer, and her past life has not been altogether free from married a Frenchman named Lacrove, who left her by Lagrove, who is still living, but it was only about a year ago that she obtained a divorce from this husband of a week. She had inherited about $100,000 from her father's estate and lived with her mother, Mrs. Merritt, in Brooklyn.

enacting the part of Chaleau Renaud in " The Corsican Brothers." She was so much struck with his appearance that she sent him a note begging him to call upon her, which after some hesitation he did. He found her to be a woman of a rather attractive appearance but over-dressed to an extent which made a disagreeable first imlickled and when after a short acquaintance she begged him to marry her he eventually consented, but not without telling her that he had pressing liabilities and that his widowed sister and her family were altogether dependent on him. In order to overcome these scruples she insisted on his taking as a gift from her $7,000, with which to pay the more pressing of his debts. Mr. Bangs took the money, paid the claims, and with the balance bought some furniture for his sister, Mrs. C. V. Johnstsp, of Philadelphia.

entered their honeymoon. In a short time, however Mr. Bangs, according to the statement of his counsel. surprised him. He took only a few days to consider his position and make up his mind, and before his wedded life was a week old he had left his wife and resumed his pachelor existence. oand, Mrs. Bangs made such pitcous appeals to him through her lawyer that he consented to save appear-ances by returning to live in the same house with her, but on the distinct understanding that they should needing a change of air her son-in law took her down to Coney Island and remained to take care of her for three days. Upon his return home he found the door of his apartment locked by his wife's orders and all his effects phoned for a carriage from the nearest livery-stable, insixted on his personal belongings being given to him, and in a few hours had left the house and was on his way to New-York, where he re-engaged his old rooms at the Sturtevaot House, where for the last three weeks he has lived in comparative seclusion.

Mrs. Hangs, meanwhile, was furious. Her husband reinsed to see her again personally, but many communications passed between their respective lawyers. I was hinted that it would be to Mr. Bangs's advantage to turnish grounds for a divorce, out this he refused to do. For a time the wife was quiescent, but on Monday the first decisive move was made in the shape of a writ of foreign attach nent filed in the Philadelphia Contr. of Common Pleus against F.C. Hangs to answer to Alice S. Congs to the use of Mary C. Merritt, Mrs. C. V. Johnston being named as garnishee, and the bail being fixed at $2,000. The meaning of these portentous legal purases is that Mrs. Bangs wants to recover from her husband a portion of the $7,000 ane gave him to pay his delate with, and as he is a regident of New-York she has attached his sister's property, waich she says was purchased with a portion of her amony. Her claim is only for $1,000.

chased with a portion of her aroney. Her claim is only for $1,000.

A TRIBONE reporter yesterday called at the Sturtevant flouse and sent up a sard to Mr. Bangs. After waiting for some minutes Mr. Bangs sent down a note to the effect that in consideration of the peculiar nature of the relations now existing by tween his wife and himself he would prefer not to make any direct statement, but that any information touching the real ments of the case would be furnished by A. J. Rogers, of No. 176 Broadway. Mr. Rogers was found at his home in Kast One-hundred-and-fortleth-st., and after running over the facts of the case as given above, said:

"You may rest assured of one thing, and that is that there will be war to the knife. Mr. Bangs will never return to his wife or effect any sort of a reconciliation. As soon as he raid me the circumstances which forced in the case here. I told him that, he was more than just-

SUICIDE OF WILLIAM M. BEEBE.

THE COMMANDER OF THE FIRST GREELY RELIEF

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 .- William M. Beebe died in Washington last night from an overdose of laud-anum, taken with suicidal intent. Colonel Beebe was a native of Ohio. At the outbreak of the war he enlisted in the 41st Ohio Volunteers and served with credit and gallantry through all the campaigns in which that regi-ment took part. For efficiency and bravery at Stane captain in the Regular Army and assigned to the 38th Infantry. He received the brevet rank of Major in the regiments Colonel Beebe, who was left without an assignment, received an honorable discharge with one eral Hazen, chief of the Signal Corps, who was als colonel both in the volunteer and the regular service. Colonel Bebe went to the Aretic regions last year in command of the Greety Rehef Expedition, the failure of hich, although due to difficulties beyond human control, preyed upon his mind and subjected him at times of great depression of spirits. He had hoped to accompany the expedition of this year and began his preparations to do so, when it was decided to be better that he should remain in Washington. This also was a disappointment to tim, which, in addition to other troubles, real and imaginary, resulted in temporary aberration of mind and his death by his own hand. His remains have been sent to Hudson, Ohio.

John L. Sullivan returned from New-York this after oon and at once proceeded to his gin palace in Ward 12 on Washington-st. near Kneeland, which it had been announced would be opened this evening. Almos dangerous crowd began to assemble. The chief of police had been requested to detail two officers, but he thought it wise to send eight or ten. The crowd increased very rapidly and at 6:30 o'clock this evening there were probably at least 20,000 howling ruffianly fellows present. They had blocked Washington-st. from Boylston to Holls-st. When the bar room was opened a rush was made and in their eagerness to get in the mobbroke down the heavy brass railing protecting the bar and did a good deal of other damage. Extra volkee were mostly summoned from all sections of the city, including all the mounted men in the Department, and a vigorous and determined effort was made to disperse the mob. One policeman was forn from his horse and would have been roughly bandled but for the prompt action, of his associates, who rode ofown the men surrounding the officer, and by a vigorous use of tacir clubs on the heads of the mob the policeman was rescued and replaced on his horse. Several of the more noisy and demonstrative roughs were arrested, including "Tim" Droban, a well-known bruiser. The police, numbering over 100, worked hard for several hours before the mob was dispersed. It is not to say that Suifuran's bur will be closely watched, and if he violates his incense it will probably be taken from him miless he has sufficient influence at the City Hail to retain his piece ag dust opposition. MANLAN AND COURTNEY.

STATEMENT REGARDING THE SAWING IN TWO OF COURTNEY'S BOAT AT CHAUTAUQUA.

IBT TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE. St. Louis, Aug. 7 .- An exposure of the Haplan-Courtney boat race at Chautauqua Lake, in which Courtney was charged with sawing his boats, will be made public in to-morrow morning's Globe-Democrat in the shape of an interesting interview which took place between representative of that paper and a backer of Hanian at races were arranged for that year between Haulan and Courtney. Haulan was to win the first, Courtney the second, and the October 3, 1878, and Hanlan won, but Courtney, it is alleged, received $2,500 of the stake-money alleged, received $2,500 of the stake-money

After this race, Courtney went to Chautauqua Lake, railied a lot of betting men about him and got them to lay large sums that he would win the race. His personal friends also backed him heavily, he assuring them that he was certain of success. Subsequently Hanian reached the lake, and finding that his friends had backed him for all that they were worth, he weakened, and refused to stand by the contract he had made with Courtney, and the race must be rowed on its merits. Courtney, as the story g es, knew that, he could not win, and seeing that if he rowed he would rob his friends and backers of their last dollar he took the only road out of the woods—sawed his boats in two. Nothing would have been said about this at this time but for the wordy row between Haulan and Courtney

ARRIVAL OF THE AMERICAN RIFLE TEAM.

SIR HENRY HALFORD ASCRIBES ITS DEFEAT TO THE

NASTY WIMBLEDON WEATHER. The steamship Abyssinia, of the Guion Line with a part of the American rifle team on board, arrived off Saudy Hook yesterday afternoon. The vessel arrived at Quarantine about sunset, having waited for the tide to turn so that she might get across the bar,

She will come up to her pier early this morning. Not being able to secure a quorum the Board of Direc-tors of the National Rifle Association held no meeting yesterday. The committee that had been appointed at a previous meeting to arrange for a fall target match met in the rooms of the association instead, and decided that the matches shall begin on Tuesday, September 25, at Creedmoor and continue four cays, and that the long-range match shall take piace on Friday, September 23. A lotter dated London, July 24, from Sir Henry Halford, was read, in which he attributed the defeat of the American team to the "nasty" Wimbledon weather, and complimented the captain of the American team and the behavior of the others. The letter says: "Your men shot in the New-York Club position, and when the natch next occurs we shall make a stand on it. Apertures in the rear signt are a mistake es a military rifle, and your men found it out at Wimbledon." yesterday. The committee that had been appointed at a

"Mr. Conrad and his wife, who has been a con firmed invalid for years, came to Bloomfield, where her mother, Mrs. Mary G. Wortbington and hes brother John Tolly Worthington, live, on Saturday, to spend the summer. Mrs. Conrad has for years suffered exceedingly from neuralgia of the stomach, which has produced nervousness and insorms. Mr. Worthington brought Mr. Courad's mail to him from Baltimore, last evening, and when he got home Mrs Conrad was almost frantic with pain. While Mr. Conrad was reading his letters Mr. Worthington held his sister in his arms. She frequently called her husband to come to her, and said she could not bear to have him leave her. When tea was announced Mrs. Conrad said she was so nervous that she could not sit down and abs walked up and down the room. She took a little cream, and then held her bowed face in her hands, saving it made her pain even more intense. Conrad asked her several times how she felt. my love,' she auswered, 'my nerves are setting me inhalation of oxygen, which had been recommended by Philadelphia doctors. This was given her for five minutes.

About 10 o'clock Mr. Conrad gathered up the things he used for her comfort during the night and started up stairs, carrying a light, while his brother-in-law followed, carrying Mrs. Conrad in his arms. He then left the room and Mrs. Worth-ington and Mr. Conrad proceeded to prepare the invalid for bed. Between 10 and 11 o'clock Mrs. Worthington went to the door of the sick chamber and got a lamp to set in the hall-door, Mr. Courad gave it to him and this was the last time he ever saw his brother-in-law alive. About 12:20 o'clock which adjoins the one occupied by herself and her husband. She was terribly excited and cried out

"Mrs. Worthington, who is old and infirm, col out of her bed, and, followed by her daughter, proceeded to the other room. There, to her horror, she ceeded to the other room. There, to her horror, she found her son-m-law dead, the blood trickling from a wound in the head back of the left car, and a Remington revolver of thirty-two calibre on the bed. Death had been instantaneous. The relations between Mr. Courad and his wife have always been of the most tender and friendly character. They had been married fourteen years.

Mr. Courad was a native of New-Orleans, and a son of William H. Courad, Secretary of War during the Fillmore administration.
